Tecnisa is a pioneer in offering ventures with disruptive and sustainable technological solutions.

Tecnisa's first customers were people with an eye on modern architecture in the 1970s. Today, with four decades of experience in the market, the company serves everyone, covering a wide value chain, initiated in the formation and management of the land bank and that includes sales, incorporation and construction of residential, commercial and mixed properties. As the company's business expanded from residential to commercial, it was necessary to make it easier for employees to help customers from anywhere.

Tecnisa has expanded the Venha Pra Nuvem solutions to all company employees. The Brazilian developer and builder currently has 1,795 employees, including administrative and support professionals, construction and technical assistance teams, associated brokers and third parties. Tecnisa initially used the expertise of Venha Pra Nuvem to create a totally secure, monitored virtual environment with centralized management and backups so that all employees could work from home.
